CHOOSING THE RIGHT TRUCK FOR THE JOB

WHAT IS TARE WEIGHT/ GVM/GCM?

TARE

The mass of the fully equipped, road ready vehicle without any payload. This includes the mass of the engine, coolant, oil and fuel.

GVM

The total mass of the fully loaded vehicle. It includes the mass of the truck, payload, engine fluids, fuel, the driver and passenger.

GCM

The Combined Mass of the fully loaded vehicle and the mass of all trailers.

PAYLOAD

The truck's carrying capacity.

DO I NEED A TRUCK LICENSE?

At Fuso, you don't need a truck license to be a truck driver. If you hold a car license, you can drive a truck with a GVM of up to 4.5 tonnes. This means the combined weight of the truck and the load it is carrying can total up to 4.5 tonnes.

The Fuso Canter is carefully engineered to deliver a low tare weight, meaning the truck's body weight takes up less of your permitted 4.5 tonne allocation. With a bigger payload comes more earning potential per load. It all stacks up to not only a more competitive truck, but also becoming a more competitive business.

BUILT READY TO WORK

A Built Ready Canter is the way to go when you need to get moving, no delays. Ready to get on with the job, these trucks come supplied with a factory-approved body covered by a factory warranty.

With the same unrivalled safety, impressive power and advanced technology you expect from a Canter – you get all of the benefits without the wait time.

STANDARD CANTER FEATURES

- Class leading active safety with Advanced Emergency Braking System (AEBS) and Lane Departure Warning System (LDWS) as standard
- Lower tare weight, allowing for bigger payloads (at a given GVM)
- Best in class 30,000km service intervals, reducing maintenance costs
- Cross-cab access due to conveniently located dash mounted gear stick
